

CLAIMS

[0036] The embodiments of the invention in which an exclusive property or privilege is claimed are defined as follows:

- A2
1. A portable telephone holder comprising:
an elongated shelf with a top side comprising a telephone support surface and an underside that is opposite said top side and that terminates at one end with a concave slanted surface.
  2. The portable telephone holder of claim 1, wherein said elongated shelf has a length and a width, and wherein said length is at least two times as long as the width.
  3. The portable telephone holder of claim 1, including a pair of ridges protruding from the underside of the shelf and spaced apart a sufficient distance in relation to each other to allow positioning a belt clip on the telephone between said ridges.
  4. The portable telephone holder of claim 1, wherein the shelf has a notch extending from the distal end longitudinally into the shelf with opposite side portions of the shelf forming lateral edges of the notch.
  5. The portable telephone holder of claim 4, including a stem extending from the opposite side portions to provide a cantilever support for the shelf.
  6. A portable telephone holder, comprising:
an elongated shelf with a top side comprising a telephone support surface
and an underside that is opposite said top side; and

AD
a pair of elongated ridges adjacent one end of the shelf and protruding from the underside of the shelf and spaced a sufficient distance apart in relation to each other to allow positioning a clip on the telephone between said ridges.

7. The portable telephone holder of claim 6, wherein the shelf has a notch extending from said one edge longitudinally into the shelf with opposite side portions of the shelf forming lateral edges of the notch.

8. The portable telephone holder of claim 7, including a concave slanted surface on the shelf adjacent said notch.

9. The portable telephone holder of claim 6, including a stem connected to the shelf to support the shelf.

10. A portable telephone holder comprising:

an elongated shelf with a notch in an end of the shelf with opposite side portions of the shelf forming lateral edges of the notch; and a stem connected to the opposite side portions.